"Epitome 1968" Is Fiftieth HHS Yearbook

In 1917, the HHS senior class compiled the first yearbook, the Aitch Aitch Ess Revue, '17. It was small and rather like a pamphlet. In 1919, the second volume was named the Epitome, and the name became official as the third volume was printed in 1921. After that, a steady stream of Epitomes have followed each year. A unique feature in many of the early yearbooks was a copy of the words and music to the school song which was written by HHS alumnus Willard J. Stahr.

In the past fifty years nearly 2600 students have been graduated from HHS. The class of 1917 had fourteen members. All the senior classes up to the 1930's had fewer than fifty members per class. Enrollment increased considerably as a result of school consolidation in 1962 when Hagerstown, Greens Fork, Economy, Dalton, Millville, and Jacksonburg became the Nettle Creek School Corporation. In 1965 the number of graduates passed the one hundred mark for the first time. The 1968 senior class graduated 108 members, the smallest class in a student body of nearly 500.

Changes have taken place in the school buildings, also. The high school in 1917 was on North Washington Street. In 1922 the school moved to North Sycamore Street. Until 1937 when the present gymnasium was built, many sports events took place in a community gym on East College Street. The Arts and Science and Agriculture buildings were added in the 1960's. Now plans are underway for a new junior-senior high school north of town.

In addition to the story of the 1967-68 school year at HHS, the Epitome 1968 includes a few pictures of past years at HHS lent by generous HHS graduates to commemorate the fifty years that the Epitome has preserved memories.

Student Activities

Probably the most memorable school events have been extracurricular activities. The success of these projects has depended upon preparations made and excitement created by students themselves. Recalling those times, people have remarked, "Remember how hard we worked and how much fun it was?" All these activities have provided the proper accent to memories of high school years.

Hard Working Students Prepare for Homecoming;

Following lunch, the student body participates in a snake dance which travels through downtown and convenes at a pep rally.

Shown working on the music department float, Joe Barnard and Rob Beachler are speaking foreign languages to Popeye.

Gary Dimett, loyal class worker, is with senior float. He directed Senior Carnival and was a Prom chairman.

Evening Is Success for Tiger Team and Seniors

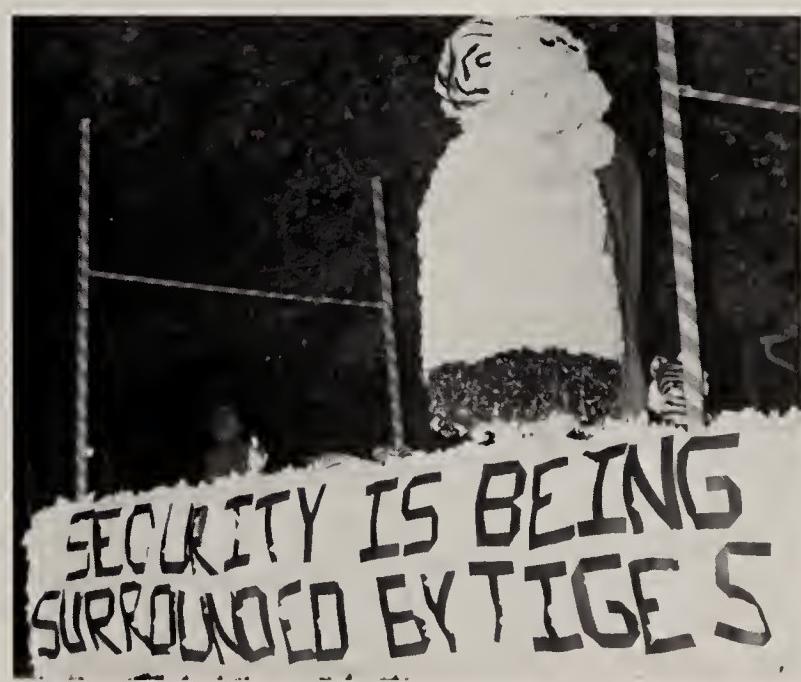

Disbelief and joy are the expressions on Mary Wilson's face as she is announced Homecoming queen. Candidates are Claudia Allen, Kathy Wall, and Jean Campbell.

Homecoming, October 30, was the highlight of the football season as the Tigers easily defeated the Knightstown Panthers, 30 to 19. The theme for all floats, chosen by the Student Council, was comic strip characters. Many classes and clubs entered floats, while officers of other groups rode in cars.

Seniors nominated four queen candidates, and the entire student body picked the queen, Mary Wilson.

Seniors took first in the float contest with the theme "We've Got Spirit", as shown by Casper the Friendly Ghost.

The second place sophomore float features a large figure of Linus, complete with security blanket.

Successful Senior Carnival Highlights Hobo Day

Bob Armon "flopped" down HHS halls in skin diving suit.

Hobo Day preceded the annual Senior Carnival. After purchasing a 5c "Hobo-Day" ticket from the senior class, students were permitted to wear hobo costumes to school Friday.

After much committee work, the Senior Carnival was held November 11. Profits were used to finance the yearbook.

Psychedelic booths and mazes, sheriffs and flower power were seen. Several students were "married." Telegrams were sent, fortunes told, novelties sold, balloons shaved, cakes won, and fun was had by all.

Hobos Debbie Baker, JoAnn Newman, and Patti Fyfe await their turn in the "bread line."

Vivacious crowd leads to huge success of Senior Carnival.

Jeff Dimett "loses" in the balloon shave, one of many activities featured at carnival.

Mark Lagomarcino is anticipating a prize by throwing the football through the swinging tire.

Courtroom Drama Sets Scene for Junior Class Play

Seniors Present Comedy "For Heaven's Sake"

A comedy "For Heaven's Sake" was presented by the senior class, March 26, 1968, after being postponed by a late March snowstorm. The play concerns a young boy who goes to Heaven. Before he can get in, however, he must succeed in accomplishing a mission on earth. The mission is to help a young bookworm round out his life by getting him interested in a certain girl. In trying to work this out, the young boy involves the couple and others in many humorous situations. Mrs. Larry H. Long directed both the junior and senior plays.

Bill Bowman and Kathy Wall watch as mischievous Mike Elliott swats a fly. Jennifer Stout and Mike's "mother" Linda Bryan look on.

"Old Man Time" strikes a ferocious pose. Burt Vanderbilt shows his true nature between scenes of the play.

Students Enjoy Informal Moments at School

Many memories of school days were of incidents unrelated to classes or organized activities. Students have remembered occasions when class rings or caps and gowns were ordered, or being with friends between classes and during the open noon hour. These informal moments completed the school day.

The gym was a favorite meeting place at noon. Students could buy candy, dance, play basketball, or stand and talk as these seniors are doing.

Cafeteria is much more than an eating place as shown by sophomores Melody Craig, Mary Daugherty and Gloria Coy.

Students scurry to be first in line for lunch.

During lunch hour, Wes Debolt, Redith Summers, Randy Nicholson, and Kathy Greene soak up the spring sun.

Student Elections Mimic Authentic Procedures

New election procedures were incorporated into school activities by the Student Council this year. Anyone wanting to become a candidate for class officer or cheerleader had to file a petition which contained fifteen student signatures. After filing, the candidates then campaigned by talking with fellow classmates, hanging posters and giving speeches. Official balloting concluded campaigns.

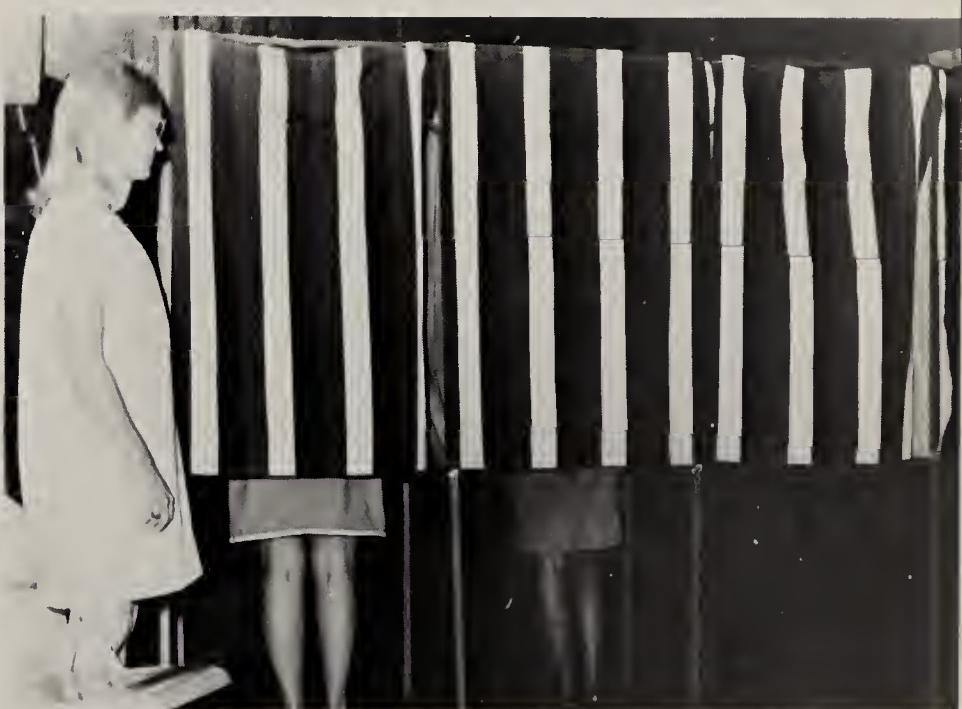

Two weeks preceding election day, posters were seen in halls, on bulletin boards, and above lockers. Several amusing campaign slogans accompanied the posters. Among them were Rex Bell's "I get things done," Bob Baer's "Vote for Baer by gum," and Mark Lagomarcino's "Snoopy" comics.

Mary Root wears buttons which support her candidates.

During a special convocation, election rules were announced, prospective cheerleaders tried out, and campaign speeches were given. Tomatoes, lettuce, and carrots are cleverly used by Janine Stout in her campaign speech.

Karen Snyder works with other seniors at the election polls.

HHS Student Spends Senior Year in Korea

Scott is pictured in his Korean school uniform.

Scott Werner, former HHS student, spent senior year as an International Christian Youth Exchange student, sponsored by the Methodist Church. Through this program he spent a year in Seoul, South Korea, with a family of seven. During vacation he traveled through South Korea, seeing Buddhist temples, climbing to top of volcanoes, and working in rice paddies. He also visited with Korean people and helped in therapy work and orphanages. While at HHS, he was a member of National Honor Society, Hi-Y, Red Cross, President of Junior Class, President of Explorers, and Prom King.

Scott's mother, Mrs. George Werner, gave the Epitome staff copies of pictures Scott sent her for use in the yearbook.

Scott, center, and his classmates are listening to speeches on the first day of school at Kyung Gi High in Seoul.

Here Scott addresses (in Korean) 3,000 Korean boys on the first day of school.

This is Scott's Korean family. Front Row: Soo Hee, Man Soo (Scott), Soo Ja, Chan Soo. Back Row: Soo Kyung, Seung Soo, Soon Sil, and Chong Yeol Lee. Soo Hee and Soo Ja are both studying in the U.S.

Gwynne (Carla Hoover) looks on as Ella (Jennifer Stout) accepts a call at Susanswerphone, a telephone answering service.

Tim Harrison, Cinda Cranor, Jay Werking, and Karen Swoveland dance and sing "The Midas Touch." Its composer, Dr. Kitchell (David Wittman) looks on.

"Bells Are Ringing" Is Third HHS Musical

Sandor (Steve Wieseke), a bookie, romances Sue (Susan Seffrin) in order to use Susanswerphone as a booking agency. Here, they plan their future in "Salzburg."

The 1967 musical, "Bells Are Ringing", was as entertaining as the earlier ones put on by the HHS music department. One could hear such songs as "The Party's Over" and "Just In Time" being hummed in HHS halls for some time after the musical. Many people never seen on stage played a vital part in the production. Among these were co-directors Mr. Harold Smith and Mr. Yeager, the Egats club, and the costume and make-up committees.

Like most musicals, "Bells Are Ringing" has a happy ending, and here Ella and Jeff are reunited after trouble with the law and a ease of mistaken identity.

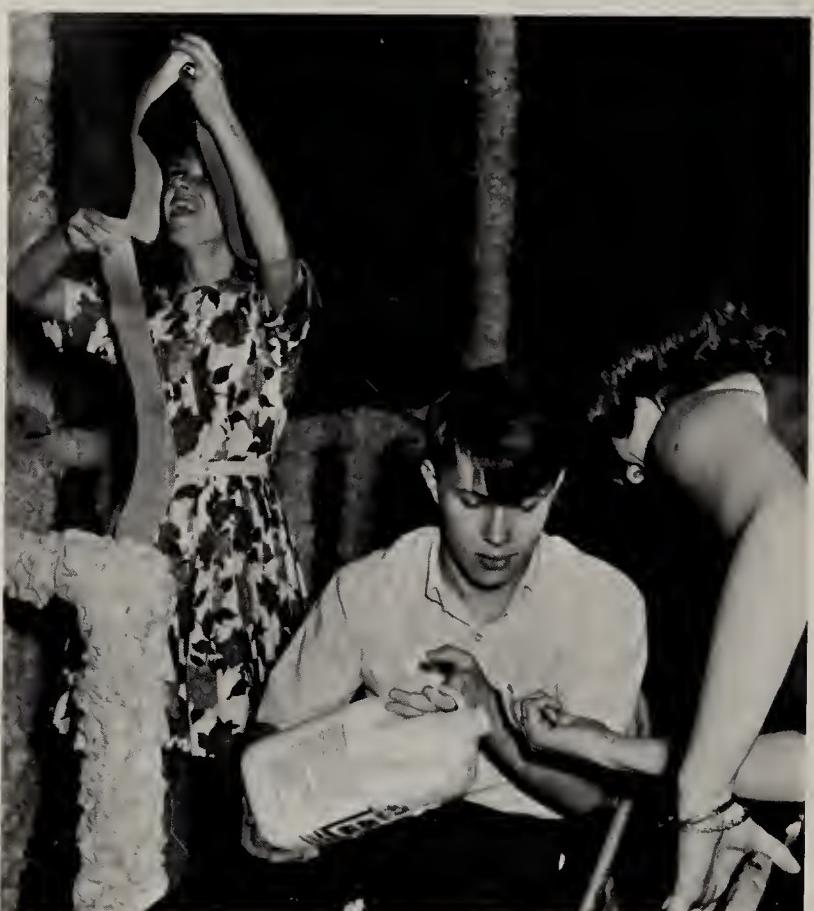

Ella and Jeff (Rob Beachler) sing about their newly discovered feelings for each other after meeting in the park. Members of the chorus join in on "Just In Time."

"Moonlight and Roses" Proves To Be Enchanting

Linda May, Jean Ann Campbell, Chuck Bell, Linda Dick, and Bill Bowman are among the many juniors who combined hard work and group effort to make the night of "Moonlight and Roses" a success. Jean Ann leads flower making, not suspecting that she is soon to become queen of the Prom.

Claudia Dougherty, Scott Werner, and Linda Bryan attach flowers and crepe paper streamers to the Junior-Senior Prom's gazebo. Scott glued away, not knowing that he would later reign as king.

All eyes turn toward Jean Ann Campbell as she is announced queen of the Junior-Senior Prom. Watching are Claudia Dougherty, Linda Bryan, Kathy Wall, and Krista McMinn.

Theme for 1967 Prom

On May 12 the 1967 Junior-Senior prom, sponsored by the juniors, highlighted the social calendar. A "Moonlight and Roses" theme was carried out by transforming the gym into a garden patio. As couples entered across a bridge, their attention was drawn by a gazebo in the center of the floor, where the Middletown High School dance band played. Prom royalty was crowned in front of the Southern mansion on the stage.

John Weiss and Joe Barnard act as masters of ceremony for the crowning. Here Jean Ann Campbell receives her crown from John as King Scott Werner smiles approvingly.

Much Preparation Precedes "Piazza Romana;"

The 1968 Junior-Senior Prom, "Piazza Romana", was held from 9 to 12 the evening of April 26. The gym was transformed into a beautiful garden with a fountain and swing located on the stage. Above the fountain, a soft pink light filtered through the blue ceiling. Flickering candles and pastel table cloths decorated the refreshment and table area which covered one-half of the gym floor. Couples danced to the music of the Middletown Dance Band.

Lucille Stout, a graduate of HHS, applies the final touches to Krista McMinn's hair style.

Juniors apply group effort under the supervision of Mrs. Beeson.

Redith Summers goes merrily about her work.

Then Comes the Awaited Evening of Enchantment

Doug Todd and Rebecca Pitts reign as king and queen of the 1968 Junior Senior Prom.

Prom excitement continued into the after prom party at the Hartley Hills Country Club from midnight to 2 o'clock. Moving from room to room, the couples enjoyed both games and dancing. Music was provided by the NeoOrpheus, a band from Alexandria, Indiana. Juniors' parents prepared the refreshments and sponsored the evening's activities. Here enjoying a game of skittle are (L to R) Joyce Oler, Jerry Lamb, Terry Giggy, Cathy Collis, Dean Campbell, and Cinda Cranor.

Royal candidates (L to R) Randy Nicholson, Chris Stone, Tim Franklin, Linda Wieseke, Mike Fouts, Anita Miller, Clif Lakes, Randi LaGrange, Doug Todd, and Rebecca Pitts anxiously await the final decision.

Sue Dennis, Steve Iossi, and Vickey Short, serve Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Douglass, and Mrs. Stone cookies and punch.

Couples enjoy each other's company at the tables.

Various Awards and Scholarships Given to Honors were showered on HHS students on May 17, 1968, with awards going to scholastic, art, music, drama, journalism, athletic, FHA, FFA, business, and library students. Many received recognition for perfect attendance and high honor roll averages. Several scholarships were also given.

Miss Veach awarded Betty Scruggs a trophy for her outstanding achievement in four years of FHA. She also received the Crisco Award and a certificate from McCalls.

Mrs. Devine received a standing ovation from student body and faculty when Mrs. Inman presented her with a gift for her many years of service at HHS.

Mrs. Long presented Jennifer Stout (above) and Becca Lilly for outstanding performance during class plays. Jennifer also won the Betty Crocker award.

Steve Cox and Susie Stratton received "I Dare You" awards for outstanding school leadership.

Deserving Students at Honor Day Ceremony

The American Legion and Auxiliary sponsored these students to attend Hoosier Girls' and Boys' State 1967: (L to R) Rob Beachler, Jean Campbell, Bill Burton, Jennifer Stout, and Burt Vanderbilt.

These students were recognized for individual achievement. Jean Campbell received the American Legion School award and a trophy for outstanding choir member. Kathy Wall received the state Hallmark award, scholastic awards, and an art workshop at BSU, sponsored by the Women's History Club. Linda May was recognized as winner of local and county DAR award. She also received the Psi Iota Xi $400 scholarship and numerous other scholastic awards. David Lester received the American Legion School award and the respected Eddie Hoover Sports award.

Weather Thwarts Outdoor Commencement Plans

For the first time in the history of HHS an outdoor setting was planned for Commencement. Yet as graduation day approached, a steady rain forced the ceremony indoors. The gym was decorated in green and gold, harmonizing with the boys' green robes and white robes worn by the girls. Yellow roses were carried by the girls at baccalaureate. In place of a guest speaker, two members of the graduating class gave the Commencement addresses.

Three school board members, who had students in the 1968 graduation class, distributed diplomas. Horace Smith, congratulates Carol Williamson as class sponsor Olene Veach looks on. Arnold Dougherty and Wilbur May also presented diplomas. The three board members are HHS alumni.

With mixed emotions, George Brown and Linda Bryan lead the 108 graduates from the auditorium.

Kathy Wall, Salutatorian, and Krista Hollenberg, Valedictorian, were unexpectedly presented small trophies by Mr. Powers to honor them at commencement exercises.

"Value of a Diploma" was the address topic chosen by Jennifer Stout and John Weiss.

Album

As a yearbook becomes older, its album section becomes more interesting. People have always been amused to see how different someone looked when he was younger. Yet, for some reason, they still have been able to recognize him. Seeing those familiar faces has revived memories and has made that school year come alive once again.

The Class of 1968 Reaches Their Last Year

The class of 1968 carried on many varied activities, most of which were used to finance the Epitome. Among these were the Senior Carnival, held in November, and the class play, held in March. Seniors also sold concessions at all athletic events during the first semester.

The seniors definitely owed the success of their activities to Miss Veach and Mr. Neirinck, class sponsors, and Miss Gill, Epitome sponsor. These teachers deserved much gratitude for their long hours of hard work.

Particularly memorable were the senior classes such as government, physics, math, and English.

The class of 1969 had many effects on HHS. In sports they contributed athletes to Hagerstown's teams. They were active in band activities and extra-curricular clubs. The juniors also brought changes with them. This year for the first time juniors had a class play, sold concessions to raise money for prom, and assisted seniors with the Epitome.

Sophomores: A Class of Many Personalities

Sophomore Nancy Reed plays Popeye on the Band and Choir Homecoming float. Will Nancy be strong to the finish?

The Class of 1970 was the biggest class with 137 members. They produced several commendable athletes and scholars. Their class contained a number of very capable people who did a fine job of representing HHS in extra-curricular activities.

Corporation Preparing To Build New High School

This picture was taken during a surprise visit to Mr. Clark. He didn't even have time to clear off his desk.

Miss Helen Smith, executive secretary for the administration, has been with the system for 39 years.

In a brief interview with Supt. Robert Clark, many plans for the new jr.-sr. high school were revealed. The $3,000,000 project proposes a gymnasium that will seat 3500, an auditorium that can be divided into three lecture halls, a swimming pool, carpeting, and air conditioning to name a few items. The school building will be able to accommodate a maximum of 1200 students. It is to be built on Baker Road north of Hagerstown. By the fall of 1970, the school should be ready for use; Mr. Clark said he honestly feels it will be one of the best schools in this area.

The school board has been active in preparing the plans for this project. These members are Porter C. Davis, pres., Raymond D. Woolard, v. pres., Paul Williamson, sec., Arnold Dougherty, Robert Howell, Wilbur May, and Horace Smith.

Mrs. Martha Swaim, Activities secretary, is shown here with huge Burroughs adding machine.

As financial secretary for the administration, Mrs. Virginia King performs vital services.

Since Mr. Powers believes things should be done "yesterday", he must eat lunch in his office to keep up.

When Mr. Wittman goes home after a full day at school, he still has chores on his farm. Here he is shown with one of his calves Pee Wee.

New Principal Arrives at HHS From Colorado

The new principal, Mr. Robert Powers, came here from Whitefield High School in Security, Colorado, where he worked in administration and guidance. He is a member of the local Rotary Club. This marked Mr. Paul Wittman's second year as assistant principal of H.H.S. He also teaches a general biology class.

With the end of the year came retirement of Mrs. Doris Devine which brought to a close 21 years of service to the school as a social studies teacher and guidance director.

Mrs. Devine manages to keep up on her paper work as well as serve as a guidance counselor. She is also sponsor of National Honor Society.

Special Services Are Performed by Able Staffs

Mrs. Fulton performs the very necessary duties of school nurse. With her office in the grade school she serves the entire system.

The army has its special forces; so does H.H.S. The duties of our special forces are very diversified, ranging from giving shots to cleaning rooms to running errands through the halls. Everyone should be grateful for the services, and the people who perform them.

Burroughs, Susie Stratton, Pam Litton, Barb Stout, and Connie Luellen. Not pictured, Debbie Beach.

It was estimated that these bus drivers traveled 1,000 miles a day transporting students. They are (L to R) Row 1: Mr. Tucker, Mr. Dimett, Mr. Durbin (grounds supervisor), Mrs.

Hunt, Mr. Bain, Mr. Foland, Mr. Dickey. Row 2: Mr. Frech, Mr. Williams, Mr. Hunt, Mr. Keiser, Mr. Underhill, Mr. Mc Minn, Mr. Oler, Mr. Lindley, and Mr. Ford.

Our cafeteria staff serves 225 meals a day to the high school. This hard working group is composed of (L to R), Amy DeArmond, Mary Ellen Smith, Annabel Carnes, Edna Litton, Lela Hill, and Grace Nicholson (manager). We are truly indebted to these women.

Teachers: At School and At Home

Doesn't Mr. "Bunny" Yeager look chic in his genuine rabbit fur ear muffs?

What is a teacher? Students see him from 8:00 until 3:00 as a figure of authority and the possessor of a "fancy computer" called a brain. His job requires a difficult balance of qualities. He must be stern but patient, wise but humble, an entertaining actor but not a clown or a phony. When he succeeds, he radiates inner satisfaction. All this the students know, but a fact that is sometimes forgotten by high school students is that their teachers are not just educational machines. They are also human beings with homes, with families, with friends, and, yes, even with homework to do. And they often sigh with relief on Fridays! What is a teacher? A person. Just a student who grew up but liked school well enough to stay.

A graduate of Ball State University this is Mr. Howard Apple's first teaching job. U.S. Government and Economics are taught while in the classroom; however, his extracurricular activities include assistant wrestling coach and line man at the football games. Famous for his "As I See It" in the Paw Print, Mr. Apple predicted many game scores.

Admiring her collection of over thirty pitchers and urns, Mrs. Helen Beeson is shown in her new home. Originally a resident of New Castle, she moved to Hagerstown after receiving her degree from Ball State University. An instructor of math courses including general math, algebra, and plane geometry, Mrs. Beeson is also a loyal HHS sports fan.

Mrs. Sarah Brooks, English teacher, is an avid dog lover. Shown here with her is Patrick, her Irish setter. Mrs. Brooks has her own garden and laid the bricks for her outdoor patio. Last summer Mrs. Brooks was awarded a special English study course at Purdue University.

Shown in the classroom as a Health instructor, Mrs. Karen Bupp also teaches girls Physical Education classes and is the sponsor of the Pep Club. She is credited with the new means of selecting cheerleaders. Girls trying out for cheerleaders must be approved by the Student Council and student body. She is a graduate of Anderson College.

Teachers: Their Families and Their Dreams

Mr. Jim Clark, physics, chemistry, and general math teacher, keeps his students amused with jokes, puns, and thoughts for the day. His hobbies are bird watching and sports. He is freshman basketball coach and assistant football coach. He enjoys swimming and was a lifeguard at Hagerstown's Splash Club.

Knitting is one of the hobbies of Mrs. Eleanor Cranor, HHS librarian. She is wearing one of her own hand-knit dresses. Mrs. Cranor sometimes brings her little grandson to the games. At her summer home in Williamsburg, Mrs. Cranor has a lovely old reed organ with an extra sounding board, making it an unusual musical instrument.

Formerly on the faculty at Sunman HS, this is Mr. Ken Dieselberg's first year at HHS. As an inspiration to the Tiger team, Mr. Dieselberg claimed the role of head basketball coach. A graduate of Ball State University, his classroom topics include woodshop, mechanical drawing, and electricity.

Mr. Mike Douglass, U.S. History and contemporary problems teacher, was new at HHS this year. Mr. Douglass came from Muncie, where he graduated from Ball State. He, his wife, and two children now live in Hagerstown. Mr. Douglass is well-known by HHS students for his thought provoking questions and comments and his ability to engage students in heated discussions.

Miss Jeanne Gill, English and journalism teacher, is kept busy working with the Epitome and Paw Print staffs. Miss Gill has been at HHS three years and was responsible for getting the Paw Print started. She has received a lot of kidding about that raincoat. She looks as if she could be an escapee from the state farm.

The stork stopped at the Nelson Harrison home during the winter bringing the family total to seven members. Accompanying his many fatherly duties, Mr. Harrison is currently working on his Master's degree at Ball State University. He is head wrestling coach and assistant football coach. Health and driver's education were his classroom studies.

Teachers: Teaching and Traveling

Junior varsity basketball coach, Mr. David Herbert, is a graduate of Indiana University. Mr. Herbert teaches his students the angles of plane geometry and the exponents of advanced algebra. He also teaches senior math. Mr. Herbert and his wife have two children.

Clinton, Indiana is the home town of Mrs. Gracie Inman. Clinton has many people of Italian descent and each year holds a "Little Italy Festival." This is where Mrs. Inman learned the art of making spaghetti. Mrs. Inman teaches shorthand, office machines, office practice laboratory, and advanced typing.

Mr. John Kerekes, grade school principal, took charge of a general business class this year. He is also co-sponsor of the newly formed FTA. Mr. Kerekes has two children. He and his family live in Hagerstown.

Archery and auto racing are just two of the many and varied interests of Mrs. Sharon Long, English, speech, and dramatics teacher. A graduate of Ball State, Mrs. Long and her husband now live in Parker, with their three children. Mrs. Long is Drama Club sponsor and had charge of both the junior and senior plays.

Mr. Herbert E. McClintock, who operates Mac's Garage in Hagerstown, has opened his shop to HHS junior and senior boys and is teaching them Auto Mechanics. The class lasts 3 hours each day.

Knitting provides a restful and creative hobby for Mrs. Elinor McConaha, Spanish teacher. She is also an accomplished seamstress, who makes most of her own clothes. Sewing isn't her only hobby, though. Refinishing antique furniture is also a favorite pastime. Mrs. McConaha, who also travels, spent several weeks in Mexico last summer.

Teachers: At Work and Relaxing

Painting plays an important part in the life of Mr. James Needham. Mr. Needham, a graduate of Kansas State University, is in his first year of teaching. He is in charge of HHS's aspiring art students, and sponsors the Art Club

Bowling is a favorite hobby of Mr. Joseph Neirinck, member of the teacher's bowling league. A graduate of Ball State University, Mr. Neirinck teaches psychology, world history, and world geography at HHS. He is also an avid archeologist, having spent several summers participating in "archeological digs." Outside activities include Hi-Y sponsor, co-sponsor of FTA and Senior class sponsor.

Mr. Ray Orman, Vocational Agriculture teacher, is a member of the Young Farmers Organization. He and his wife have two children. Mr. Orman, a Purdue graduate, sponsors the FFA Chapter.

Shown talking with Roy Werking at a football game, Miss Marilyn Oury is a loyal fan of HHS sports. She was often seen greeting fans at the auditorium doors, taking tickets, and handing out programs. She is probably most famous as typing teacher whose pupils keep their fingers in running order for daily timed writings. Miss Oury also teaches bookkeeping.

Mr. Basil Rust, right, and his assistant Mr. Ted Knose seem to enjoy working on machines. Mr. Rust teaches machine shop. He keeps busy supplying the shop boys with materials they need.

Mr. James Scott and his wife are shown here with their son enjoying a basketball game. Mr. Scott teaches Biology. Mr. Scott portrayed Santa Claus at the Christmas convocation this year.

Teachers: Their Hobbies and Handicrafts

Mr. Eugene Stone, who teaches typing, general business and business law, enjoys a hike through the woods. Mr. Stone also likes to camp with his family. For relaxation, he reads law, religion, and philosophy books. Mr. Stone is the only teacher with a son or daughter at HHS; his daughter Christine is a junior.

HHS football coach and physical education teacher, Mr. Joe Suminski hunts for pleasure. He has a cabin in Pennsylvania, his original home, where he can go to hunt deer. Mr. Suminski has two sons, one of whom wears a football uniform. Mr. Suminski also teaches biology.

Mrs. Taylor, formerly Miss Loggan, is shown here with her husband. They were recently married. Mrs. Taylor taught freshman English. She was editor of the Earlham yearbook. This was her first year at HHS.

Ceramics is the hobby of Miss Olene Veach, home economics teacher. Miss Veach is shown here enjoying her hobby. Miss Veach has a busy schedule at HHS. Besides her classes, she also sponsors FHA and 4-H and helps sponsor the senior class.

Mrs. Wilma Warner and her husband both enjoy the new piano which she received for Christmas. Mrs. Warner teaches Latin and English and is sponsor of the Latin Club. Mrs. Warner also enjoys reading.

Old cars is the hobby of Mr. Ben Yeager. He is shown here with one of his five cars. Mr. Yeager teaches band, choir, and music theory. He also has the EGATS club and Marching 12. Mr. Yeager directs the Methodist Church Choir. He also has been taking flying lessons.

Academics

The curriculum has been expanded over the years. New equipment has been purchased and more complex textbooks have been introduced. But the students are still the same. Each year they have worked diligently at their studies to be better prepared to meet the world in which they have lived. And HHS successfully managed to prepare them.

Social Studies Department Has Two New Teachers

Prosecutor Les Mosier questions Jennifer Ridge in a mock trial in government. Jury member, Claudia Allen, appears to be more interested in Les than in the case.

Kenny "Green Giant" Johnson and Bob "Gus" Johnson build a mouse maze for use in psychology class.

One of the new teachers, Mr. Apple, used mini-legislatures and mock trials to add pep to the government classes, required for all seniors. He also taught 15 economics students in money matters, which they studied by filling out tax returns and preparing budgets. Mr. Apple later supplemented his government courses with income tax study.

Drugs and civil rights were two of the up-to-date topics discussed by the juniors and seniors in contemporary problems class taught by Mr. Douglass, also new to the school. He taught all classes of U.S. History, a required class for all juniors. One project in this class was a U.S. History notebook.

World geography, taught by Mr. Neirinck, was the most recent addition to the social science curriculum. It was open to all grade levels, but was aimed mainly at freshmen. The 32 psychology students spent many hours compiling a research paper during their semester-long course. Mr. Neirinck also taught world history, a sophomore elective.

Hunting for the Line of Demarcation are Jim Dick and Mike Hurst during Mr. Neirinck's world history class.

Steve Sprouse very intently watches the World Series in Mr. Douglass's contemporary problems class.

"In what year was the Monroe Doctrine written?" asks Mr. Douglass during a U. S. history quiz. Mary Root is puzzled while Bob Armon finds it humorous.

Jana Albertson and Mark Corder demonstrate the use of the maps in world geography class.

Figuring a budget in economics class appears to be quite amusing for Mr. Apple, Claudia Dougherty, and Mike Paul.

Feminine Intuition Guides English Department

In third period junior English class, Tim Franklin and Nancy White study some of the early American authors.

A daily occurrence in the Opportunity English class of Mrs. Brooks is the fight between Duane Shook and Jennifer Ridge.

The English department also greeted a new teacher, Mrs. Sue Taylor, this year. She taught all freshman classes and gave each student a chance for extra credit by reading a book a week.

Junior classes, which read To Kill a Mockingbird, and Death of a Salesman, were taught by Miss Gill.

Senior English was taught by Mrs. Brooks, who is noted for her stimulating discussions. She also taught opportunity English, a class for the student who sometimes has difficulty in reading, writing, and expressing ideas.

Mrs. Long, teacher of sophomore English, added variety by having students teach the class from time to time. She also taught speech and drama, both one semester courses. The highlight of the speech classes' year was a speech contest, in which Kathy Wall placed first in school and county competition, and third in the district.

Students are given a chance to teach in the sophomore English class. Here Karla Snyder takes over as teacher.

The six weeks is coming to an end as Linda Bryan prepares her five-paragraph author theme for senior English class.

Each student selected an author to study intensely during the year. Linda chose Aldous Huxley.

"Let Freedom Ring," was the topic of John Weiss' speech given in a speech contest and also in class.

In freshman English, Brian Foust gives the class an ESP test while Jana Albertson observes.

Long Awaited Language Lab Finally Arrives

A first semester Spanish student teacher, Miss Click, is at the control panel of the new language lab.

New to our school this year, was the language lab. About 125 students used the lab for both Spanish and Latin. It consisted of 30 student desks and the teacher control board. Each student had a head set and a microphone. The teacher also had a head set and a microphone, and controls to listen in. Two-way communication was possible between teacher and student.

Latin students Rick Conwell, Mark Lagomarcino, and Jennifer Stout learn to drape togas.

Latin is both amusing and confusing as shown by Rex Bell, Tom Bruns, Rick Conwell, and Steve Iossi, all second year Latin students using the student controls of the language lab.

Students Enjoy New Magazines in Study Hall

Library science class are Cynthia Pownall, Pam Newman, Donita Barnes, Roxanne Rhodus, Brenda Necessary and Joyce Brown supervised by Mrs. Cranor.

Using the new magazine rack in the study hall is Clayton Elleman while Dallas Dale studies.

Mrs. Cranor and her librarians contributed much to the student whether he was compiling a term paper, selecting a book for a report, or merely browsing during his spare time. An innovation this year was moving the current magazines and newspapers from the library to the study hall for students to read during their free time. The library ordered many new books and records, including a series of books by famous American authors.

The library science class met once a week and learned how to classify books in the card catalog. They also learned how to use the Dewey decimal system.

Mrs. Cranor helps Jeff Dimett find information on mechanics. Jeff remembers all the "good old days" in the library.

Seniors Learn About Teaching Through FTA

Future Teachers of America, a new experimental organization, was incorporated into the school curriculum to show interested students the opportunities open to the field of teaching. Participating students assisted grade school teachers in typing tests, giving individual aid in reading and other subjects, and taking responsibility for playground duties. On Fridays they discussed new teaching ideas and problems that arose. They were also required to report on articles written in professional journals. Mr. Neirinck and Mr. Powers were faculty advisors.

Finding that a child finally understands a problem is very rewarding, even to a cadet teacher, and Mike Paul will agree.

The wise words of a first grader seem amusing to Claudia Dougherty, a cadet teacher.

The second graders find that the cadet teacher, Miss Seffrin, is seldom lacking in ability.

New Business Lab Teaches Efficiency

"My Favorite Martian" disguised as Gail Hendershot, is working out a new secret code on the transcriber used in business lab.

Mrs. Inman taught the new experimental business laboratory. This vocational education class prepared girls for careers in office work by acquainting them with procedures and techniques used in the modern office. The girls learned different jobs by being assigned to stations such as, duplicationist, receptionist, librarian, or office manager. The girls also did office work for teachers. A calculator, mimeograph machine, a liquid duplicator, a transcriber-dication recorder, adding machines, and typewriters were purchased for this course. Sixteen seniors belonged to the two hour class. Second semester the business lab went to work with the shop class. Using their skills, the lab handled the shop's books, ordering, and correspondence.

Typing, law, bookkeeping, and general business are taught in addition to the intensive lab.

Typing class turns out very efficient typists. Martha Tucker hasn't made a mistake; she just wants to type that line again.

In business lab the girls become familiar with many new machines. Mary Wilson demonstrates the Friden Calculator.

Over 200 Students Study Math and Science

The mathematics and science departments of H.H.S. were very complete. The mathematics department included Mrs. Beeson teaching general math, algebra, and plane geometry; Mr. Clark teaching general math; and Mr. Herbert instructing students in plane geometry, advanced algebra, and senior math. Mr. Suminski's and Mr. Scott's biology and advanced biology classes had nothing to do with mathematics, but they showed the student how his body is constructed and how it functions. Mr. Scott used experimental animals extensively to show effects and results of different physical processes applied to a physical body. Mr. Clark's chemistry and physics classes were closely related to mathematics because mathematics are needed to learn chemical and physical laws and theories. Mr. Clark and his students performed many diversified experiments in proving or disproving any theory of chemical technology. Mr. Clark did not limit himself to a dull action and calculated reaction. He concocted solutions designed to provide a laugh or surprise to add interest to his otherwise technical classes.

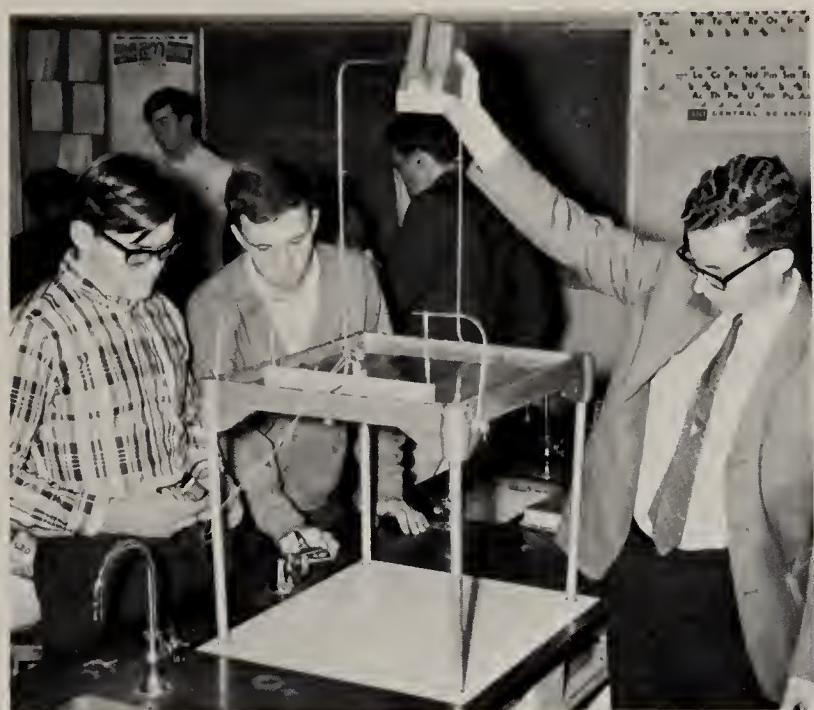

In Chemistry, Debbie DeFrank "grinds away" on the ice cream that demonstrates freezing process. Gary Kitts, Dave Howell, Bob Baer, Phil Beachler, Mark Lagomarcino, and Sue Dennis approve.

General math students Donnæ Foulke and Terry Dick find that accuracy, even in simple circles, is important.

While Marta Davis confidently experiments with dissection of a triangular prism, Becky Jones and Debbie Dennis observe.

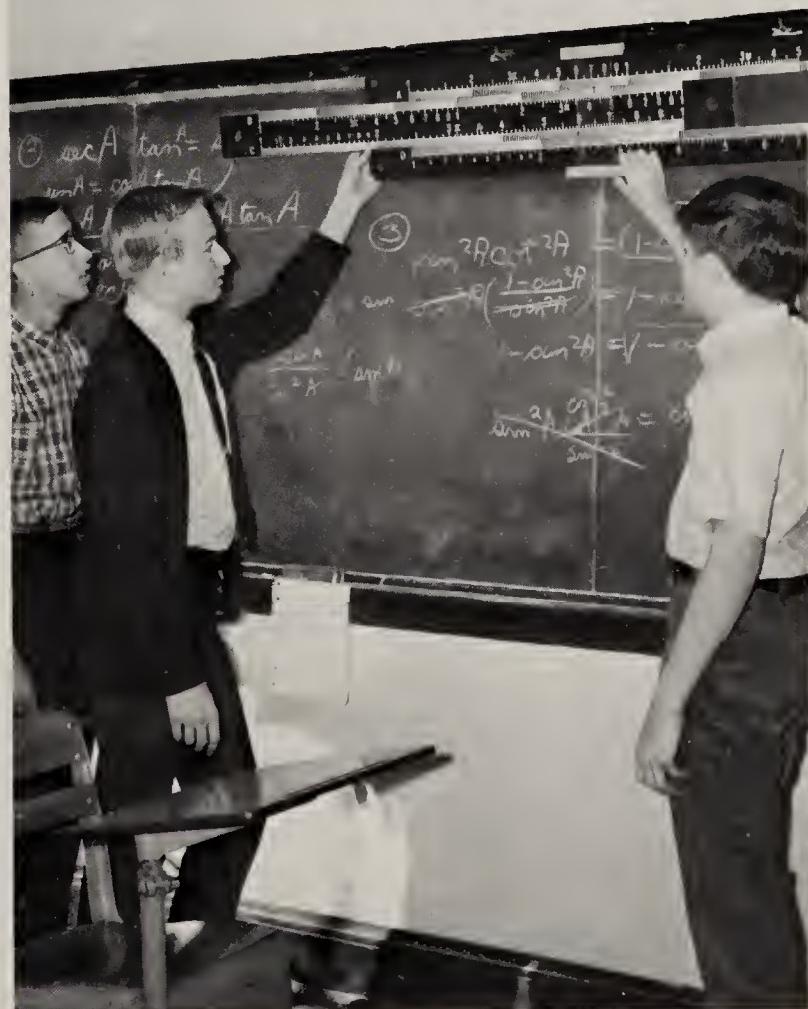

A ripple tank was assembled by physics class. Bill Bowman and George Brown admire Larry Smith "making like a lamp."

Biology students experiment with the germination of seeds. Mike Tremps assists Mr. Suminski with a germinator.

Mark Gethers and Doug Poling make trigonometry a "community project." Greg Ozbun doesn't seem interested.

Dave Carlson and Scott Conder demonstrate the use of the large slide rule in first year algebra class.

Health Education Puts on Many Different Faces

These agile boys, Dave Carlson and Dave Neeessary are doing the "monkey roll" in their boys physical edueation class.

The "Hippies" in health class are getting a demonstration, by Mark Greer, of the problems of a dope-addict.

Physical Education is required by all freshmen and sophomores for one semester. Mr. Suminski is the instructor of the boys phys. ed. class. The class went bowling plus their regular activities. The girls phys. ed. classes, under the direction of Mrs. Bubp, played various sports.

Mr. Harrison taught both the Drivers ed. and Health classes. Health is a required semester course while Drivers ed. is not required.

When Randy Keith is at the wheel, Mr. Harrison seems to be quite seeure, but no one knows what's behind that smile.

In phys. ed. Paula Banning is concerned with getting the jump ball, but Joy Burroughs seems to be practicing modern dance.

Boys as Well as Girls Study Home Economics

Miss Veach supervises while Jay Nicholson, Keith Underhill, and Steve Sprouse watch in amazement as Doug Poling removes the biscuits.

Eating their Japanese lunch that they prepared in home ec. are Patty Pope and Ruth Lamb.

The Home Economics department of H.H.S., headed by Miss Veach, instructed students in anything from sewing buttons on clothes to designing homes. Their projects as a group, as individuals, and as a class covered a wide range of topics. For example, one of the projects for the girls consisted of preparing meals from European and Oriental countries. For the second year a number of boys enrolled in home ec. They learned how to shop for foodstuffs and prepare bachelor fare.

Home-nursing was also taught in home ec. Donna Oakes practices on Barbara Fagan.

In Agriculture class, Gene Bennett and Steve Cox test different soil types. This is important because the chemicals shown lacking can be applied to the soil to make it far more productive. Mr. Orman looks on approvingly.

H.H.S. Agriculture Is Modern and Practical

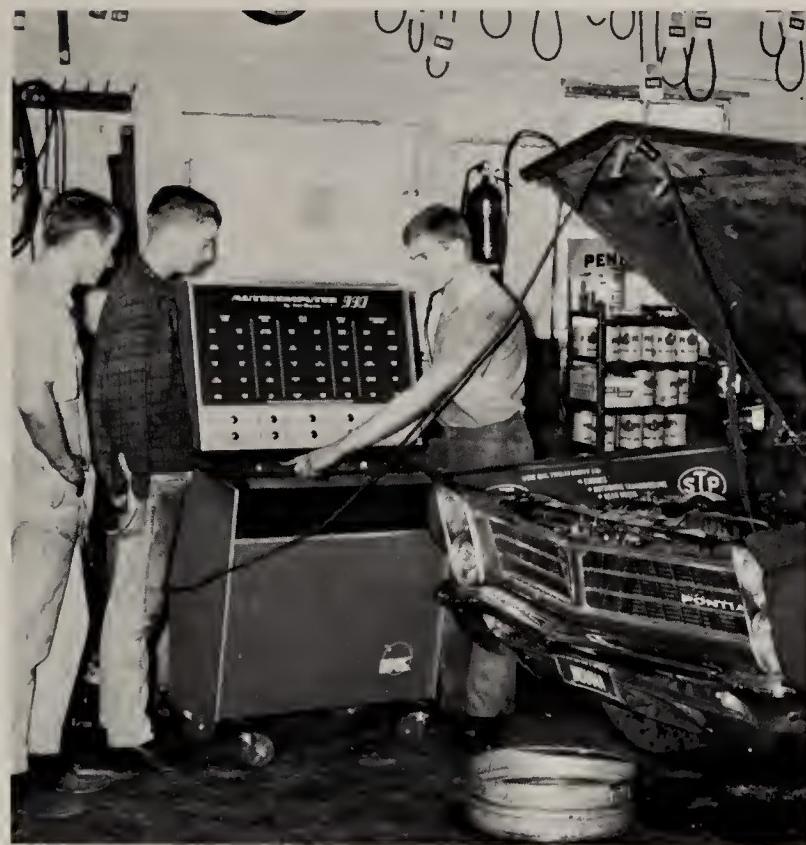

No matter how old or new machinery is it must have proper care. Lewayne Hilbert empties the fertilizer from the planter.

Mr. Orman's Farm Shop classes have received various gifts from local firms to add to the tools bought by the school. Together, these tools provide his F.F.A. boys with an efficient shop to make them familiar with farm machinery. Field's Ford provided a 1968 station wagon for the engine instruction. Dana, Inc., provided materials to make repairs on machinery. The boys Farm Shop have repaired machinery, painted tractors, built feeders, and have had ample experience in all the mechanics that a future farmer would need.

Many things must be made for the Ag. projects. Bill McDaniel works building a gate for the pig pen.

Industrial Arts Develops Mechanical Skills

In the boy's auto mechanics class Steve Bowman studies the autocomputer while Gene Fields studies the auto.

In mechanical drawing class Greg Ozbun and Tony Wilkinson are working on lettering to duplicate the model.

Mr. Rust's machine shop classes have remained busy this scholastic year with their many projects. These projects ranged from working on personal articles such as improvements on their cars, first semester, to building pedal cars for profit the second semester. The pedal car project was made possible when the school bought manufacturing rights for the light inspection car from V-Plex Clutch. This project gave the students a chance to practice the varied skills Mr. Rust taught them. The new two hour Auto Mechanics class conducted by Mr. McClintock in his garage, located near the school, instructs students in auto maintenance. The students learn the intricacies of ignition systems and carburetion, so vital to keep a car in perfect mechanical condition.

Many skills are learned in machine shop. Mr. Rust helps Barry Waltz and Jay Burroughs learn to use new tools.

Yeager Runs Music Department Singlehandedly

In the newly formed music theory class, Mr. Yeager illustrates the changing of chords from minor to major.

It was a busy year for Mr. Yeager as he took over directing both band and choir as well as teaching a new music theory class. After a week at camp during the summer, the band competed in several contests. They also gave a Christmas concert at the Knights-town Children's Home. The highlight of the choir's year was the district choral festival in March. Music theory students studied part writing as well as the lives of famous composers.

The band spells HHS as part of formations.

Journalism Class Edits the HHS Paw Print

Claudia Dougherty and Mike Paul stencil headlines while Larry Necessary is ready with correction fluid.

The Journalism class, under the guidance of Miss Gill, has spent many hours covering school activities and generally "reporting the news".

For the first time, photographs of Homecoming, football and basketball, appeared. Increased student coverage was a major change in the Paw Print.

Being interviewed for a feature story is Burt Vanderbilt. Joyce Brown finds his replies amusing.

Waiting for Patti Fyfe to deliver their Paw Prints are Randi LaGrange, Doug Todd, Chris Stone, and Brenda Woodward. Except for special editions, the Paw Print was usually delivered last period on Fridays.

Several Changes Made in "Epitome" Production

The actual production of the 1968 Epitome was begun in the summer when Editor-in-chief Krista Hollenberg attended 2 weeks of yearbook courses at Ball State. Miss Gill, journalism teacher, was appointed as advisor. The staff extensively employed the services of several juniors. A second regular photographer was added to the staff. Also, the editor was allowed a free period during the day exclusively for yearbook work.

An August delivery date for the book was used with the purpose of including the whole year in one book. Being the 50th volume of the Epitome, old pictures from HHS alumni were included. The whole staff worked very hard down to the smallest details to make the 1968 Epitome the "best yet"!

Epitome photographer, Burt Vanderbilt, spends many hours in the dark room developing pictures for the yearbook.

History of Art Supplements Art Classes

In art class Anna Meyer carves away at her wood block. It is then used for a block print.

In addition to the usual range of projects from painting to pottery, the art classes studied current art and artists and kept notebooks of newspaper clippings concerning art. Under the direction of their new teacher, Mr. James Needham, they also studied art history with the use of slides.

Demonstrating the use of the potter's wheel is Mr. Needham while Kathy Wall, Elaine Miller, and Judy Hall observe.

The messy sink is familiar to any art student. Adding to the mess are Vicki Williamson, Dallas Dale, Danny Bane, and Bill Stall.

Sports

Throughout the years students have participated enthusiastically in sports either as athletes or as fans. New records have been set only to be broken again. The trophy room displays many honors. And all have shared that same thrill of school spirit passed on through the familiar strains of "HHS Our Alma Mater".

Coaches Suminski, Clark, Murray, and Harrison walk to Hagerstown after the Tigers 21-6 victory over Cambridge City.

History; Take Tri-Eastern Conference Honors

It was a bright year for football at HHS, with Coach Suminski picking up his 50th win on the last game of the season, a 21-6 victory over Cambridge City. This year's team, which gained more yardage than any previous one, had two members making All-State honorable mention teams. Senior tackle Dave Lester made the AP team, while junior quarterback Randy Nicholson was named to the UPI squad.

Bill Tinkle carries the ball for a gain against Knightstown in a game the Tigers won 30-19.

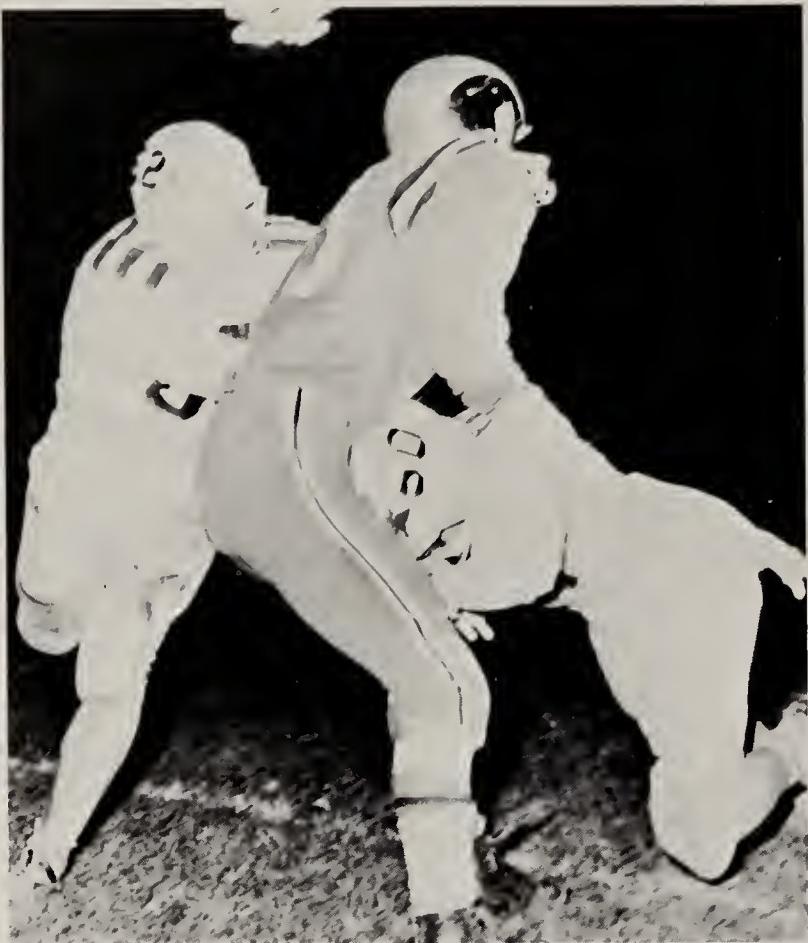

Dave Lester relaxes after Hagerstown's 26-0 win in the Union City "Mud Bath".

Randy Nicholson (18) and Rex Clifton (84) stop a Knightstown ball carrier near the Hagerstown side line.

Suminski's 50th Win Highlights Successful Season

A Knightstown player is removed from the play by Bill Burton (50) and Mike Steele (62).

A highlight of the Knightstown game was Bob Johnson's run back of a second half kick-off for a touchdown.

The reserve team dresses for all home varsity games. After a Tiger win, Dallas Dale returns across the bridge to the gym.

JV, Freshman Football Players Show Promise

Coach Murray in his second year was joined by Coach Clark who took the Freshman team. Bill Oler had a season high with three touchdowns scored in one game. The Freshman team lost Gary Groves to the varsity in which he earned a letter. Both the Freshman team and the Junior Varsity team had excellent records. They should contribute greatly to the Varsity's eight game winning streak.

After a game, members of the reserve team return to the gym. They are Jim Dick, Mark Blaze, and Barry Mosier.

Gain the Respect of Students and Adults Alike

Krista McMinn holds a paper hoop honoring the senior players as Terry Giggy and Roger Morris make their entrance.

Weariness and confusion are the expressions on Allen Fox's face as he is closely guarded by a Union City player.

The basketball team compiled a 3-17 record in their first season under coach Dieselberg. The year was brighter than it seemed, however, as the Tigers had several near-misses. With the seven returning underclassmen, next year looks more promising.

Mr. Dieselberg gives emphatic instructions to Bill Tinkle and Mark Blaze during a time out at a crucial moment of the game. Roger Morris, Barry Waltz, Les Mosier, and Stuart Carlson also listen attentively.

Fast reflexes and strong muscles help Barry Waltz as he guards his man.

Tigers Make Excellent Showing in Sectional

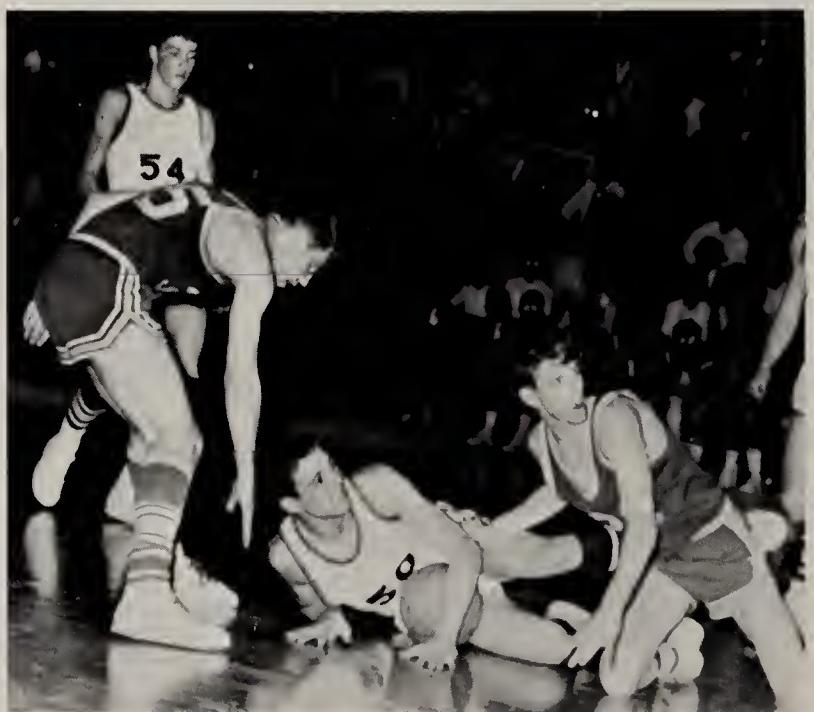

Even varsity managers got into the act at the sectional. Here Dan Hollenberg and Mark Lagomarcino boost the team on.

The baseball team had its most successful season in years under its coach, Mr. Charles Blackburn. They compiled an 8-6 record and placed third in the TEC and second in the sectional.

Bill Tinkle, Dean Campbell, and Mike Paul made HHS baseball headlines by making the all-conference team. Bill and Dean were named to the first team, while Mike was on the honorable mention.

Bob Johnson ran both high and low hurdles with equal success. In this Jaycee meet, a third was needed to qualify for the finals.

1968 was an exciting year for the track team as Barry Waltz became the first HHS entrant in the state track finals. While competing at Indianapolis, Barry set a new school record of 13'5" which gave him an eighth place finish. Another new record was set by Dave Lester in the regional meet.

Among the many girls who helped out at the home track meets were Marcia Teegarden, Cindy Elliott, and Becky Jones.

Dave Lester tried hard all season and finally in the Regional Track Meet set a new school shot put record of 51'8".

Completes Successful Six and Six Season

Under new wrestling coaches, Mr. Harrison and Mr. Apple, the Tiger matmen compiled a 6-6 record. Only four seniors wrestled varsity meets. Eleven underclassmen showed spirit, desire, and ability during the 1967-68 season. Seniors Mike Owens, 133 lb. class, and Bill Burton, 138 lb. class, placed first in the Tri-Eastern Conference. Randy Nicholson, 145 lb. junior, and Pat Masters, 127 lb. sophomore, were runners-up. Randy and Mike took thirds in the sectional, while Bill took a fourth. Mike Owens was named captain.

Young Tennis Team Gains Experience for Future

The Hagerstown Tiger tennis team under the direction of Coach Harrison for the fifth straight year, had fourteen underclassmen on the squad after graduating two members from the 1967 squad, Allen Richardson and Randy Turner. The team, being young, suffered some defeats, but the experience gained promised to improve the team for the 1969 season. Bright spots on the team were Allen Fox, number one singles, and Fox and Steve Baker, forming the number one doubles team. Hagerstown's two concrete and two asphalt courts are the best in the T.E.C. and the best in Wayne County, excluding Richmond.

With Bill Todd, Alan Renaker, and Darrell Tee-garden graduated, the 1968 team went to work anyway and won a TEC crown for HHS. Doug Todd not only was low medalist for the sectional but for the TEC also. Coach Dieselberg complained that he couldn't beat anyone on the team.

Senior Athletes Have Rewarding Experiences in Baseball, Football, Basketball, Wrestling, Golf, Tennis, and Track

Senior members of the class of 1968 who received varsity letters during the 1967-68 athletic season made Hagerstown High School proud by their outstanding records and sportsmanship. The following awards were for senior achievement: Claudia Dougherty was awarded a cheerleading jacket. Roger Morris lettered in baseball and football, received a jacket and an oscar. Mike Owens was in football, wrestling, and track, received a jacket. Bob Johnson lettered in baseball, football, and track and was awarded a jacket and an oscar. varsity cheerleading for Claudia and Linda and the first year for Marcia and Becky. The girls are shown wearing the new outfits that were custom-made for them this season.

Cheerleaders Encourage Enthusiasm From Fans

The enthusiasm of cheerleaders is an important stimulant to the team. These girls work many hours outside of school perfecting new jumps and learning new yells. This year, varsity cheerleaders attended a cheerleaders camp for a week in summer. All cheerleaders were sponsored by Mrs. Bubp.

Reserve cheerleaders are (l to r) sophomore Tomi Collis, frosh Doris Woolard, sophomore Cinda Cranor, and frosh Connie Morris.

Freshman cheerleaders on floor are Jana Albertson, Suzanne Gigg, and Peggy Paddock. Linda Reece sits on Suzanne's shoulders.

Organizations

Club activities have been an integral part of the school program for many years. Besides giving active teenagers something to do, clubs have given experience in leadership, responsibility, group co-operation and learning to get along with other people. Not only have the club projects been worthwhile, but they've been a lot of fun as any club member would agree.

Honor Society Recognizes Juniors and Seniors

The 1968 National Honor Society was composed of forty-one members. As a money-making project the Honor Society sold HHS sweatshirts. With the money made from this sales drive, the society purchased special tassels worn by their members at Commencement. This year a college day convocation was sponsored by this scholastic-minded group. Former HHS students came back to express their views of college life. At the end of the year, the Honor Society had an induction ceremony to welcome new members. Mrs. Devine was recognized at induction for her fourteen years of service to Honor Society.

Student Council Activities Benefit School

Members of the Student Council are representatives from all classes and large clubs. Their goal is to benefit the student body through better services each year. This year they were in charge of the sign in front of the school, Homecoming, and refreshments on the stage. They made money from the coke, candy, and pencil machines. Their basic service is to consider valid complaints made by students and to work with the school board and principal to make new and better rules.

"To grow as a person; to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities; to grow in the knowledge and love of God": these are Y-teen goals. Affiliated with the Richmond YWCA, Y-teens is one of the school's largest and most active clubs. Throughout the year it sponsors many activities. This year's events included a semiformal dance, the Christmas Ball, a Valentine's Dance, and the traditional Mother-Daughter Banquet, and Desserts for Dad. Just before the Christmas holidays, Y-teens decorated the classroom doors, as they do each year and sang Christmas carols in the hallways. They also sold ground beef cookbooks for a money-making project. Their various service projects included a clothing drive for the people in the Appalachian area, a collection of jewelry and gloves for patients at the hospital in Richmond, and a trip to the New Castle State hospital to entertain patients there.

Hi-Y Displays Gratifying Service Schedule

In promoting high standards of Christian life in the home, school, and community, the Hi-Y boys have many activities that have kept them on the go all year round. Along with co-sponsoring dances with the Y-Teens, the club maintained announcement, physical fitness, track-field boards. Posting of basketball and football rosters and ushering at home games were other tasks the boys have done. For spring events the chapter sent delegates to state conventions and had honor day presentations. To top the year off, a banquet was held to award the boys for outstanding work done in the club.

New OEA Club Is Formed by Lab Girls

New to HHS this year, the Office Education Association replaced last year's Business Club. All girls enrolled in business laboratory classes became members of the organization.

Throughout the year, OEA girls traveled to several meetings and contests. In February they attended the State Leadership Conference in Indianapolis. State Contests were held at Marion in March but because of heavy snow, HHS did not attend.

A slave auction was held with members being sold to teachers. Money earned was used for a party.

OEA proved to be a very successful and popular addition to the high school.

FFA Chapter Continues Excellent Achievements

The Hagerstown FFA Chapter won the National Gold Emblem for chapter excellence for the 6th consecutive year in 1967. To win a Gold Emblem year after year requires new and better activities each year. The past year added several new activities to the chapter program of work. The biggest of these was an educational exchange trip with the Eaton, Colorado, FFA chapter. John Weiss and Larry Smith along with two boys from Eaton participated in the program. The chapter also sponsored a Donkey Basketball game which was very successful. Those who participated were the FFA seniors, the FFA juniors, the Hi-Y, and the faculty. Also, the chapter acquired a new agriculture teacher who hopes to lead them to many more gold emblems.

FHA Finds Benefits in Hard Work and Fun

FHA national organization is designed to improve personal, family and community living. The goal was accomplished by the HHS club by having a guest speaker, Miss Irene Meyers, giving parties for members and helping the community in any way possible. This past year the club organized their activities around three basic parts—service, social and educational. Service activities were a Thanksgiving basket collected for a needy family in the community, making toys for children in the state hospital and collecting money for the March of Dimes. Social events were a mother-daughter banquet, Halloween and Christmas parties and the Lady of Perfection Tea. Educational activities were helping with vocational days at school and presenting a spring style show. As for rewards, the chapter has been in the honor group for four years and has had the scrapbook sent to state for a final judging in June.

Roman Culture Inspires Latin Club Activity

A member of Indiana Junior Classical League, Latin club stresses Roman custom. Annual events are the Saturnalia, or Christmas party, and the spring banquet. The banquet includes Roman style meal and dress. Officers use Roman titles—Jupiter is president; Juno, vice president; Scribus, secretary; Quaestar, treasurer. The club also sends delegates to the state convention.

Growing Spanish Club Has Record Membership

El Club del Español had several new features this year. A banner was entered in the Homecoming parade. To celebrate Christmas, the club had a piñata party. In the spring, a Spanish dinner was given, with each member contributing his favorite Spanish dish. Also there were several guest speakers.

As a new organization, the Forensics Club has been active in local and state events. The club entertained teachers at a Christmas program. They also represented Hagerstown in the district Indiana High School Forensics Association meeting at Southwood High School.

Art Club First To Have Battle of Bands

Poster design is an important part of any art course. Kathy Manifold and Donna Oakes are busy creating signs. Art members design a majority of the posters used at school.

This year's Art Club was led by President Kathy Wall. Any student interested in art could join. The Club's main project was sponsoring "The Battle of the Bands" held April 6. Art Club gives the talented artists in the high school a chance to meet together, discuss and exchange ideas.

Shown here with their award winning entries are Krista Hollenberg and Kathy Wall. Kathy received first and Krista second in the Women's History Club County Art contest. At the district, Kathy tied for first and Krista placed third.

Extra Hours Are Spent by Music Enthusiasts

Spectators at home basketball games were entertained at halftime by the lively music of the pep band, while the marching twelve did precision drill shows between games.

In January, several students went to District Solo-Ensemble Contest at Ball State. Because they competed in Division I, Mark Phillips and Jean Campbell were eligible to go to State Contest at Butler University, where Mark received a rating of "excellent" and Jean was awarded a "superior" rating.

The Blendaires, a girl's trio composed of Carla Hoover, Nancy Reed, and Brenda Thalls, performed for many civic groups and school events.

Egats Are the Ones Behind the Scenes

One looking behind the scenes during a play would see a beehive of Egats members. This energetic group earned their rightful name by pronouncing stage backwards. Dressed in black attire while during a play, these members show they know the "ropes." At regular meetings the group and Mr. Yeager, the sponsor, plan the props to be used, painting of scenery, and lighting for the plays.

Seven Boys "Invade" Formerly Female Pep Club

The boys' gold sweaters accented the girls' purple ones and gave the Pep Club a new look this year. Since boys' pep clubs had met with little success in the past, any interested boys were allowed to team up with the girls' pep club. The combined enthusiasm was impressive.

For a money-making project, Pep Club members sold boxes of candy. Prizes were awarded to those who sold the most boxes. First prize, a watch, went to Connie Shore who sold about 150 boxes of candy. The contest was a success.

The High School Red Cross' main concern and project is supporting their foster child Lee Chul Soo, who lives in Korea. This year the High School Red Cross sponsored a dance and sold concessions as money making projects for this cause. For a community project the Red Cross members visited and took food to elderly people in the community at Easter time.

The "Epitome 1968" was printed on enamel paper and bound with a silkscreen-process cover. Regular Bodoni Book type was used in the 10 point size for body copy, 8 point size for captions, and 6 point size for listing underclass and alumni names. Bodoni Book Italic was used for the headlines in the 24 point size for regular headlines and 30 point size for division page heads. These styles were chosen for appearance and comfortable reading.

Since this fiftieth volume of the "Epitome" is a rather special one, a lot more work and the assistance of many more people was required to produce the 1968 edition. Of course, there were the many people whose vital assistance is usually needed.

Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas, printed the "Epitome" again this year. The advice and assistance given by Mr. Rex Moonshower, company representative, was greatly appreciated.

Services rendered by photographers were obviously invaluable. Underclass portraits were taken by Indiana School Pictures of Indianapolis under the management of our music department to whom we extend our gratitude. Reid's Studio in New Castle, Indiana was in charge of senior portraits. Mr. Bill Walden of Reid's Studio was extremely appreciated for taking most of the organization group pictures, some of the classroom shots, pictures of both proms, and several other incidental pictures. A special thanks is extended again to Reid's Studio for making the copies of all the old pictures used in the introductory section and on the division pages.

This leads us to extend deepest thanks to these generous people who were brave enough to lend their pictures of past HHS activities, whether we used them or not: Mrs. Jesse Weaver, Mr. Marfield Cain, Mrs. Alma Sherry, Mr. Mahlon Rinehart, Mr. Donald Pass, Mr. Ed O'Neil, Mrs. John McCormack, Mrs. Eugene Howell, Mrs. Lynn Swoveland, Mrs. Emmett Beach, Mrs. Willard DeBruler, and Mrs. William Todd. We also thank Mr. Don McCullough, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Upchurch, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beeson for helping identify people in some of the old pictures.

For helping with the alumni section, thanks goes to Mr. Don McCullough for supplying us with the initial list of graduates. We also sincerely thank Mrs. Devine, Miss Helen Smith, and the many people called on the telephone in effort to find the married names for many HHS alumnae.

We thank Mr. Powers and the faculty for their cooperation with much of the picture taking and apologize for interrupting classes to do so. Mr. Paul Foulke gets our deep thanks for his extra efforts to mail our copy on time. Lastly, our parents are thanked for being so understanding as we worked those many hours.

Editor Ponders Experiences of Year's Work

Throughout the year several people have said to me, "I'll bet being yearbook editor isn't any easy job!" As I worked through the year, so many details and difficulties have proven this true to a greater extent than I had initially imagined. And I have decided that any yearbook staff, no matter how hard they try, cannot avoid the deadline rush and other such problems simply because they are students who must find time for yearbook work in their busy schedules. Even though we ran into problems expected and unexpected, I'm sure we'd all agree when I say that I found my job to be far more satisfying than frustrating. And I consider the most valuable personal gain in working on a yearbook staff to be the experience in learning to work with other people.

Jean Ann Campbell deserves recognition here for undertaking the Student Activities section on short notice after Linda Dick moved. I would like to thank Debbie Beach and the sales staff for their work in selling "Epitomes", Burt Vanderbilt for tolerating the many inconveniences we imposed upon him, and all the juniors who worked hard to help us out. Miss Gill and I both really appreciated Linda May's help when we called on her in emergencies. And I really enjoyed working with Miss Gill this year. She was my right hand when the going got rough.

This book means a lot to me and the rest of the staff. I hope that you can appreciate and enjoy it just as much now and in years to come.
